

THE NINTH MURDER.

A Story of Theosophy & Black Magic.

BY STUART CUMBERLAND, THE MIND-READER.

[Written for the POST-DISPATCH.]

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

"The Ninth Murder" Was Begun in the Sunday "Post-Dispatch" of March 10.

All London is excited over a series of murders, the victims of which have been young women of about 20 years, and the secret of their deaths is hidden in the heart. The ninth victim, Geraldine Uterston, murdered on the eve of her 21st birthday, was discovered by Dr. Harvey, who has been called the "honest" Dr. Harvey. The latter is engaged in a Miss Hardcastle, who strangely resembles Mrs. Mansfield, and in answer to Dr. Harvey's fears concerning his prospective bride says: "Geraldine Uterston is dead, but she is not the ninth victim." Col. Mansfield performed a weird ceremony, during which he was revealed to him. About the same time Miss Hardcastle's locket over her heart and she faints as the murderer utters a cry of rage and defiance.

The day after the attempt on Miss Hardcastle's life, Dr. Harvey hastened to his friend Mansfield's house and found him lying in bed in a trance. On the table lay a note from Mrs. Mansfield, and a telegram from Col. Mansfield, opened in a week, and a note pinned to Col. Mansfield's breast asking the doctor to care for him while he was in a trance.

CHAPTER VIII.

A MYSTERIOUS APPARITION.

On the morning of September 7, the day following the attempt on Miss Hardcastle's life, an extraordinary discovery was made.

A young Hindoo, studying for the bar and living at 325 Colville street, Baywater, was found dead in his room, under circumstances which, according to the newspapers, gave rise to the gravest suspicions of foul play.

The police were most reticent about the master, and the ladylike of the house where the young man lodged refused to be interviewed.

The public had, therefore, to content themselves with the general surmises contained in the newspapers; and the inquest was accordingly opened with great excitement, for somehow or other it had got abroad that the death of the Hindoo was connected with the recent mysterious tragedies; in fact, that a dagger apparently the one with which the previous murders had been committed was found stuck through his heart. Meanwhile the state of Col. Mansfield attracted considerable attention, and was the subject of much discussion.

Some of the most eminent physiologists had visited Mansfield, and contrary to the sleeping man's express instructions, tried a variety of experiments upon him, but without arousing the slightest sign of animation.

They were convinced that life was not extinct, but not one of the scientists had in his experience ever come across a case of so deep a trance.

It was decided that Mansfield should remain where he was, as it was feared the removal might prove fatal to him, and he was sent to life. Dr. Harvey undertook the charge of his friend and had him carefully looked after, but from sunrise to sunset the condition of the sleeper was precisely the same and a doctor watched in vain for the sign of returning vitality.

A few days such a subject would have caused a stir, but the name of the sleeping master of contradictory rumors were set a-rolling, and some of which were to concern him in some unaccountable manner.

It was strange, it was argued, that Mansfield, who was to be the next person attacked, should, at the very time when his life was in danger, be in a deep trance, be unconscious.

It was the meaning of putting on that curious-fashioned white dress. Then, and other persons, were asked to look over again, and the public was impelled to do the same, when the sleeping master suddenly awoke from his trance. Some mystically inclined people, who had dabbled in the occult, were of the opinion that he had been indirectly implicated in the recent murders. He, they hinted, was a member of a secret society, though he had never been to any of their meetings.

Her lodger, Mrs. Parker pointed out, had been to the same secret society, and was a daughter certain women of a peculiar appearance.

Her lodger, Mrs. Parker, producing an account book, "Every day is noted," said on those days he took a sum of money, and the public was asked to do the same, when the sleeping master awoke from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

The next witness was Dr. Tibury. He related how he had been called in by Mrs. Parker, and that he had been up to the room, and was already dead—had, in fact, been dead some hours. He had never seen a more ghastly sight. He had been up to the room, and the legs were drawn up, and the arms strangely contorted. The eyes were wide open, and the lids were drawn up, and the hands were clenched. The maid servant's knock, she had ordered the door to be burst open, the door, she said, had been broken from the inside, the key being still in the lock.

She at once, she added, sent for the doctor, who, however, could only give her a careful examination of the rooms.

She was certain that no one had access to her lodger's room, and that the door was always locked, and that both the windows of the bedroom and sitting-room, which were on the ground floor looking out on the street, were broken.

THE DUST.

BE ON ALL THE DAYS.

Arrangements for and Inspectors

Governing the Officers—How It Will

Be.

The first of this month the citizens of

Louis will be fully and unpleasantly reminded that streets were not being sprinkled. A real deal of dissatisfaction was expressed, the dust created a real deal of talk. The Department

does not think it will make the streets more dusty.

Under-Commissioner and in tracts with the city out their carts on work. Everything

the contractors in have notified the

they are ready to be inspected and

and will go to work

as soon as the men are inspected to see strict compliance will be the point that has minds in that the

to become dusty,

the government of allows:

public places shall during the months of

June, July, August, granite, wood,

and stone.

Forest Park, which

a day during the months of May and October, during the

months of May and Oc-

LODGE NOTICES.

NOTICE to members of Mirah Lodge, 360 A. O. U. W.—A special meeting will be held on Saturday evening, March 17, to take suitable action on the death of Brother John Linn.

H. H. HORN COFFEE CO. No. 111 Franklin av., St. Louis, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at Wenzel's Hall, Franklin av. and 8th St. The public is cordially invited to attend. Always welcome. By order, M. A. CARROLL, G. G. BALMER, Recorder. G. G. BALMER, Chancellor.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALES.

Clerks and Salesmen.

WANTED—A young man in cotton business during season would like to have the United States to be held at A. G. Brown's, 219 Locust st. 48

The Trades.

WANTED—Situation by a young man as rough carpenter. Address T. S. this office. 48

Cooks.

WANTED—Sunday Post-Dispatch will secure the best of help for perfume. 48

WANTED—Situation by a first-class bread and cake baker. Address W. W. this office. 48

Boys.

WANTED—Situation by a colored boy as teamster. Call 212 Olive st. 48

WANTED—Good, honest boy wants situation in office or as shop-boy. 1116 Locust st. 48

WANTED—Situation by a boy of 16 years of age to learn the printing trade. Address S. 36, this office. 48

WANTED—A boy of 17 wants work in grocery store. He can speak English and German. Address D. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—To apprentice a boy of 17 years of age to a good compass blacksmith or machinist. For particular apply to F. O. Box 52, Mary, Mo. 48

WANTED—A good family, with first-class references, to give a good home and good education to a boy who is not a good home wanted. Address E. 37, this office. 48

Miscellaneous.

WANTED—Sit by a young man; wants work of any kind; not afraid of work. Address 614 Lam st. 48

WANTED—A situation as attendant with a good family; wants work of any kind; writes and speaks both English and German. Address N. 35, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

HELP WANTED—FEMALES.

Cooks, Etc.

WANTED—Cook to cook, wash and iron; good cook. 550 Olive st. 48

WANTED—One girl who can cook, wash and iron. In family two. 1005 S. 7th st. 48

WANTED—To apprentice a boy of 17 years of age to a good compass blacksmith or machinist. For particular apply to F. O. Box 52, Mary, Mo. 48

WANTED—A good family, with first-class references, to give a good home and good education to a boy who is not a good home wanted. Address E. 37, this office. 48

Miscellaneous.

WANTED—Sit by a young man; wants work of any kind; not afraid of work. Address 614 Lam st. 48

WANTED—A situation as attendant with a good family; wants work of any kind; writes and speaks both English and German. Address N. 35, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

BOOK-KEEPERS.

WANTED—A man as bookkeeper and salesman in a retail grocery store. Address 1005 S. 7th st. 48

WANTED—Sale of Merchant tailoring on time payment. 604 Chestnut st. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

The Trades.

WANTED—A man as bookkeeper and salesman in a retail grocery store. Address 1005 S. 7th st. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man and wife make a good house or cook; private family; best refs. Address G. 37, this office. 48

WANTED—A man

